TAFTVILLE

Several local motorists who were brave enough to take their cars out during the blizzard and paid the penalty of having to leave them in snowbanks, Sunday, have spent the past two days in getting them back to their garages.

A social event to which the younger set of the village have looked forward for some time, was an evening of dancing, held by the William Hallant Penfield's dancing class in Penemah hall, Wednesday evening, and to which relatives and friends had been invited. The hall was prettily decorated and the affair was greatly enjoyed by all present.

A grand march led by Miss Nyra Farnington and Andrew Jarry started the evening's dancing, in which modern dances were danced, that had been taught by Mrs. Penfield. The class consisted of 40 members, mostly high school students and the reception closes the end of the term.

A sewing class has been organized to meet on Monday evenings in the Red Cross rooms in the Penemah block. The class will be instructed by Miss Matilda Stapfer, Mrs. Lloyd H. Ordway and Mrs. Thomas Crowe.

Miss C. Evelyn Atkins, who has been confined to her home on Providence street by illness the past few weeks, is able to be out.

A number of young men, who, taking advantage of the moonlight nights, started on a snowshoe hike Tuesday evening, were forced to return as they reported that the snow was too soft for snowshoe walking.

The state roads about the village are now in fair shape and travel over them is fast approaching normal, but the streets in the village are still practically impassable for vehicles with wheels.

J. O. Teller of Merchants avenue sang The Marches at the meeting of Faith Trumbull Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Community house, Norwich, Tuesday afternoon.

The Pinchock club took two games from the Army-Navy team, on the local alleys Wednesday night. High single was rolled by P. White with a score of 144 and a total pin of 552.

OIL CO. SUES WOOLLEN MILL CONCERN

Eight new suits for the superior court, returnable on the first Tuesday in March, were filed there Thursday at the office of Judge George E. Parsons, clerk of the court. They included a 13,000 suit brought by an oil company against one of the Norwich woolen mills.

The U. S. Oil and Supply Co. of Providence sues the Winchester Woollen Co. of Norwich for 13,000 damages on the claim that the oil company in March, 1929, sold to the Woolen Company ten cars of wood at 45 cents per gallon, amounting to $4,500 and that one car has been delivered and paid for but the woolen company has refused to accept further shipments and has repudiated its contract. By reason of this the plaintiffs claim that they lost the market for the oil and were only able to sell the oil at 35 cents per gallon.

On the grounds of intolerable cruelty, Rose L. Mansfield of Stonington sues for divorce from Frank X. Mansfield of New London. The plaintiff's maiden name was Main. They were married November 1, 1926. The wife claims that her husband was cruel to her from April, 1917 to October 15, 1919, and that she was forced to leave him because he threatened her life with a revolver. She asks custody of children aged 3 and 14 and alimony as she claims her husband is worth $5,000.

Helen Patterson of New London, executrix of the estate of Scattered Patterson, who died in March, 1929, has brought an appeal from probate of the will.

Divorce from James Santacrose of New London is sought by Mary Santacrose of that city on the grounds of intolerable cruelty since January 1, 1917. They were married December 23, 1916. The maiden name of the wife being Piss. She asks the custody of a three year old son.

Abel Merkik of Montville is made the defendant in a suit brought by Abraham Rothkovich of New York for a partnership, claiming ownership of a farm of 252 acres on Raymond Hill, Montville. Merkik is claimed as now in possession of the farm and is making a profit of $200, but is making no return to Rothkovich, although Rothkovich has put $1,850 in cash into the partnership.

MUST BUILD ON TRUTH.

SAYS LENTEN PREACHER

Rev. A. C. Coburn, rector of St. James' church, Danbury, was the preacher at the Lenten service held Thursday evening at Trinity Episcopal church. Rev. Mr. Coburn said that the Lenten season is a time when we must build on truth. He said that the Lenten season is a time when we must build on truth. CHARLES DOW SAW HORSES

SULTAN GAVE PRESENTS

Charles W. Dow of 124 Broadway had his memory stirred this week by a news item in The Bulletin referring to the gift of a pair of horses made to Ibrahim Grant by the sultan of Turkey about 50 years ago. Mr. Dow was a boy in New Haven then and well remembers that the steamer, Norman Monarch which carried the sultan's gift, put into New Haven and docked for a time while taking on supplies. Mr. Dow went down into the hold of the ship and saw the horses were taken ashore to be used in a blacksmith shop on George street, where big crowds gathered outside to see them. The old horse and the mules that were taken off the ship were displayed in a store at the corner of Chapel and Church streets, bringing high prices when sold as soon as the ship left. The horse were made out of strips of leather iron, sold for $50 and the harness for $5 apiece.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED

TO LOUISE MASON VINAL

Louise Mason Vinal of Westerly, formerly of this city, was granted a divorce in the Western county Wednesday from Frederick Webster Vinal of Middletown, on grounds of intolerable cruelty. She was given the right to resume her maiden name of Louise M. Mason.

The couple were married May 20, 1911. The plaintiff in the action is the daughter of the late Frederick P. and Louise Mowry Mason.

On January 26th, 1917, she was granted a divorce from Frederick Webster Vinal by the superior court in this city. The grounds on which the divorce was granted were intolerable cruelty. The custody of the couple's two children, Frederick Vinal, 2nd, and Helen Dorothy Vinal, then aged 4 and 3 years respectively, was given at that time to Mr. Vinal's mother, Mrs. Charles G. R. Vinal of Middletown.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

These two workmen's compensation agreements have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue, Jr. of the Department of Labor, in the case of Robertson Paper Co., Montville, employer, and Ely F. Clark, Montville, employee. Two joints on fingers amputated, at rate of $11.01.

DEED ON FARMING BOOKS.

When the appropriations committee was inspecting the Connecticut Agricultural college last Friday, according to an incident related yesterday at the capitol, Governor Lake, who accompanied the committee, walked unnoticed into the library of the institution and examined the books. He took careful note that books relating to various subjects, subjects were well worn while many of the treating wholly with agriculture gave it

LOSS OF INDEX FINGER

Loss of the index finger on his left hand in a hunting accident is the basis of a suit brought by David Phillips of East Lyme against Dr. George E. Bligh of New London, a suit which was returned in the superior court there Thursday afternoon.

The plaintiff claims that on Jan. 18, 1928, while he was hunting in the woods in East Lyme, the defendant negligently and recklessly discharged a gun in his direction, the bullet striking the plaintiff in the left hand and severing the index finger. Phillips claims that he was in the care of Dr. Bligh when the latter discharged the weapon.

The plaintiff alleges that he spent $150 for doctors' fees, medicine and medical care, that he was unable to work for seven weeks, suffering a loss in wages of $150 and claiming damages of $1,500 for assault and battery.

Attorney Woodruff of New Haven is counsel for the plaintiff and Attorney Arthur E. Keefe appears for the defendant.

LOCAL MERCHANTS' GOOD

SAMANTHAN TO STRANGER

A Polish man unable to speak a word of English and who had only just arrived in Boston, a short time ago, came to Norwich this week and is now with relatives on Cross street. The only means of identification was a tag attached to the man's coat bearing the address on Cross street, Norwich. The man was just aboard a train at Boston and was apparently lost when he happened to take a seat near a Norwich merchant. The Norwich man seeing that the man with Polish on his coat was lost and that he was alone in the car, he took him to his home, brought him to this city and turned him over to a policeman who took him to his destination without a minutes loss.

NORWICH TOWN

Under the auspices of the social committee of the First Congregational church, an entertainment of the kind known as a "social" was given in the chapel before a good sized audience. Preceding the entertainment the church orchestra of six pieces gave a pleasing program, also played between the tables which were set with refreshments. Refreshments were served by the church women's association.

TO COLLECT $100 FEE

Attorney Morris Lachinsky of New London appeared before Judge John W. Banks in the superior court there Thursday morning seeking payment of $100 from Harry Zakonick of Groton for services rendered in defending Zakonick on a charge of manslaughter. The defendant claims that his charge is exorbitant.

July 25, 1918, Zavoritza ran into and killed Mrs. Ellen O'Connor of Groton in an automobile accident and he retained Attorney Lachinsky as his counsel. On the stand Thursday morning, Attorney Lachinsky told of being engaged by Zavoritza on the evening of the accident and recited what his services consisted of from the time of Zavoritza's arrest to the evening of his acquittal. He said that he charged Zavoritza $100 in the criminal superior court.

Attorney C. Hadley Hill of New London and Attorney Warren R. Burrows of Groton followed Attorney Lachinsky on the stand and testified as to Zavoritza's claim that the charge was not the kind of service for the result.

Attorney Lachinsky is represented by Attorney Frank H. McGowan and Attorney Thomas E. Toland is appearing for Zavoritza.

OSCAR PENDLETON WINS

SUIT AGAINST HIS BROTHER

Oscar P. Pendleton of Stonington, is ordered to pay $48.44 from his brother, Moses A. Pendleton, of Stonington, in a judgment handed down by Judge John W. Banks in the superior court recently. The suit was one in which Oscar Pendleton sought to recover $1,000 for a book account for groceries and coal. Moses Pendleton claimed that the account was part of a settlement of the estate of their father, Moses Pendleton, in 1918.

Norwich Boy in Boston Hospital.

Boston papers state that Warren Hotchkiss of this city, who was operating in Boston several weeks ago, is improving. Mr. Hotchkiss had a similar operation two years ago from which he did not fully recover.
